

Tad Coffin Performance Saddles™

Win Green Farm is excited to host Olympic gold medalist Tad Coffin for a discussion and demonstration of his latest saddle technology, SmartRide Rx™. The technology in his saddles and in his new therapeutic device, the Thera-Tree, has demonstrated a consistent ability to reduce back pain, stress, and anxiety in many horses, leading to optimized performance.

- Experience firsthand the benefits of SmartRide Rx™ both in the Thera-Tree and in TC saddles, and watch as the technology makes positive changes in horses' mental and physical wellbeing and performance.
- Participants with horses will have an opportunity to ride in a TC saddle themselves, or if they prefer to watch Tad ride, he will use his saddle technology on their horses.

About Tad Coffin:

Tad Coffin is uniquely qualified to discuss issues inherent to saddle design, performance and manufacturing. Under the training of Jack LeGeoff, and at the age of 21, Tad won two gold medals in three day eventing with his mount Bally Cor at the 1976 Montreal Olympics. In addition to his riding expertise, Tad has been involved in saddle design for 40 years, with 25 years of experience engineering and innovating improvements in saddle technology. Through his years of research, Tad is convinced that a new and exciting narrative exists in our understanding of saddle fit.
